ADJOURNED SINE DIE. THE USUAL VOTE OF THANKS

PASSED. The Country Relieved from the Pres sure of a great Bore-Cause for a General Jollification.

WASHINGTON, July 1 .- SENATE .-Senator Eaton called up the adjournment resolution and moved to amend by fixing Tuesday, July 1st. at 5 p. m., as the time of final adjournment. Senstor Windom said his side had now exhausted all the legitimate powers conferred upon them by the rules of the Senate in order to induce the majority to make the necessary appropriations for marshals. The President had, so far as Senator Windom knew, exhausted a'l the powers possessed by him on the subject. He had made a patriotic appeal to Congress to do its duty, and not to go home without making the necessary appropriation. He quoted from the President's message to Congress of yesterday, and from laws defining the duties of marshals. The adjournment resolution, as amended, was passed at 1:30 p. m. Senator Harris moved to reconsider the vote by which the free quinine bill was referred to the Finance Committee vesterday. Senator Morrill spoke in opposition and Senator Beck in support. The motion was agreed to and the bill was passed by viva voce vote, no one voting in the negative. At 2:45 p. m., a message from the House announced its concurrence in the Senate amendments to final adjournment resolution. The Senate then went into executive session. When the doors were reopened complimentary resolutions were passed thanking Vice President Wheeler for his courtesy and impartiality as presiding officer; also thanking Mr. Thurman as President pro lem. The joint committee which had been appointed to wait on the President and announce the impending adjournment then reported that the latter had no further communication for Congress, whereupon the President pro tem at 5 p. m. declared the Senate adjourned

House.-Quite an amusing personal explanation was made this morning by Mr O. Turner (Ky.), who denied the charge of drunkenness made against him by the Memphis Avalanche. In the course of his explanation he alluded to a conversation which recently occurred between Mr. Hubbell (Mich.) and himself in respect to the National View. This brought forth a short explanation from Mr. Hubbell, after which the House resumed the business of the morning hour, being the bill prohibiting political assessments. The political assessments bill went over without action in consequence of dilatory motions sage from the Senate announcing the assage of the free quinine bill was received with applause. After the passage of some un mortant bills by un-animous consent, the House took a recess until 4 o'clock. Upon reassembling, Mr. Gibson (La.) moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill amending the Mississippi River Commission bill so as to enable the Presi dent to appoint any of the Comissioners to be President of the Commission. Lost for the want of a quorum. The Joint Committee then reported that the President had no further communications, and at 5 p. m., the Speaker declared the House adjourned sine die.

LONDON, July 1 .- A Times' Paris correspondent says the majority of Bonapartists are understood to concur Merauhrer in acknowledging Prince Jerome Bonaparte as chief of the Napoleonic dynasty. They argue that the will of the late Prince Imperial which asks ex-Empress Eugenie, to co-operate with Prince Victor was written on an assumption that the testator would survive Prince Jerome Bonaparte. This reasoning, however, is considered a transparent excuse for the non observance of the impracticable will of the Prince Imperial. Merauher's retirement from active politics is evidently owing to the feeling that he and Prince Jerome could not act together and the latter could not be set aside. What between Prince Jerome Bonaparte's possible adherence to the Republic and the impossibility of the clerical section of the Bonapartists choosing the leader without either acting against the wishes of the Prince Imperial's will or provoking a distinct disavowal from Prince Victor, the Bo-

Oxford, June 30.—I am sorry that my name has been mentioned in a con-troversy, which seems to be personal, as well as political. In our early manhood, Dr. Grissom and myself were room-mates. I still regard him with affectionate admiration, though on many points we do not think alike. When it was certain that Doctor Fisher would be removed and probable that an army surgeon would succeed him, I wrote an article urging the election of Doctor Grissom as the most competent candidate. It is now generally admitted that, in many respects, he has discharged his duties with conspicuous ability. The Lunatic Asylum is over-taxed and Doctor Grissom, in the name of suffering humanity, asks for liberal supplies. On the other hand, the Legislature is trying to pay the debts of the State, without increasing the burdens of the people. The controversy therefore is a part of the natural current of events; but our public men should not disparage each other. It seems to be the fashion to depreciate the living and extravagantly eulogize the dead; simple justice to both would be better. I ove to honor our illustrious dead; but North Carolina was never more ably represented in Congress, never had more virtue and talent subject to order at home.

The comparison of the expenses of the orphans and of the lunatics is very unfair. Lunatics are diseased, and require constant attention and extra supplies. Their institution is a hospital, and patients improve according to the sup-plies furnished and the skill with which they are administered. The orphans are seldom sick, and do a large part of our work. The merchants are very kind to us, and our supplie are bought at very low figures. The doctors never charge for prescriptions and the druggists freely contribute most of our medicines. We have friends in every part of the State who keep us posted in prices and transact our business free of by the Republicans. The Senate amendments to the House adjournment resolution were concurred in. A mesthey carry it on. I am simply their servant and nothing more

The Sanitary Condition of the City.

Correspondence of the News. RALEIGH, July 1 .- Your article, in a recent number of the NEWS, on the san-itary condition of the City, was well timed, and to the point. Your conclusions are all true, and the warning ful-ly justified. Every few days some one within the city limits is reported dead from typhoid fever. Impure water, and foul air are the fruitful causes of this dreadful malady. And yet a city paper upon the authority of a police officer, reports the sanitary condition of the city as never better. Trusting that you will tell our people n plain language that the sanitary condition of their back lots and privies needs immediate attention and thus impress upon our Mayor and Aldermen their duty, I shall hope that good sense will take the place of recklessness, and the health of our people protected and improved. For the benefit of some of our country readers unacquainted with the banana, we will state that it is a tropieal fruit which grows on a soft but very large herbaceous stalk, with leaves four or five feet long and from fifteen to twenty inches in width. The flowers grow close to the top of the main stem, not very unlike the hollyhock, and the fruit, closely resembling | walls every opportunity for a speedy rethe pawpaw, forms in a great cluster which, when ripe, weighs from twentyfive to fifty pounds. It is eaten raw or sliced fried.

MYSTERIOUS ABSENCE.

ADMIRAL BINNACLE MISSING FROM HIS USUAL HAUNTS. And is that Brave and Renowned Old

Salt the First of the Baleful Pinafore's Victims?

Admiral Horatio Binnacle, the venerable retired sea serpent who lives on West Seventy-seventh street, mysteriously disappeared about five weeks ago, to the grief and consternation of his friends. On Thursday night he reappeared as mysteriously as he had gone; and instead of boldly marching up to the front door he slid into an area entrance and retired. He kept his room on Friday, but in the evening the force of habit overcame him, and with his old time manner he stood up in his accustomed place in the parlor. But he was sadly changed. He came back emaciated, bent, dimmed.

"For weeks," he said, "I had attended the 'Pinafore.' How many times I went to the Standard, the Fifth Avenue, the Broadway, the Lyceum, and the other places, I never figured up, but I thought I should never tire of the fresh bright music, and the delightful nonsense. Like all the rest of you I heard it played and sung, and whistled everywhere, and it was always grateful. But early one morning, as I was coming home from the lodge, I neared an ash cartman who was going through Seventy-seventh street. He emptied the barrels and boxes with a great noise and slammed them down on the side-walk with a bang that kept the neigh-borhood awake. And as he tugged at the ash barrels he sang in a strange voice the song of 'Buttercup,' just come " 'Oim called little Buttercup, dayer lit-

the Buttercup,
Though I could never tell why;
But still I'm called Buttercup, poor little Buttercup,

Swate little Buttercup, I.' "It may have been the engrossing nature of the lodge, perhaps the walk, or possibly the night air that predis-posed me, but the ash cartman's singing made me uncomfortable, and I was suddenly conscious that the 'Pinafore' had become distasteful to me. To use a marine figure, gentlemen, what had before seemed the swinging melody of summer seas seemed now the discord ant surf of a lee shore. I wrestled with this uncomfortable oppression, but it grew worse. Then I fled, hoping to find some spot in which the 'Pinafore' had not east anchor.

"Passing along a street in Milwaukee I saw a sign: 'New York lager.' I ordered some of the genial German who manned the bar, but, as he turned to draw it, I heard, mingling with the gurgling of the beer, this floating up from the broad-backed demon:

"Mann nennt mich Kleine Butterblume, liebe Kleine Butterblume. Obwohl ich nie gewusst warum, Doch nennt man Butterblume mich. arme Kleine Butterblume. Susse Kleine Butterblume, ich Ich habe Schnupf und Rauch-Tabak, und---' "I left him still bending over the spigot and went to Omaha. There I engaged board with an exemplary French gentleman, whose family, like himself, could speak not a word of English. I thought I had found rest here he seemed such an amiable man; but the first morning, when I came down stairs, I heard that Frenchman at the piano and singing softly to himself:

'On m'appelle Petice Beurretasse chere Petite Beurretasse; Mais pourquoi je n'ai pas une idee. Mais neaumoins je m'appelle Beurretasse, pauvre Mignonne Beurretasse, Douce Petite Beurretasse, moi!

"Then I began to lose flesh. I didn't stop until I had reached Ogden. On the first night while I was sitting in front of the hotel, two Italian musicians came along. For an hour and three-quarters they played the anvil chorus. There have been times, gentlemen, in the las twenty or thirty years, when the anvil chorus seemed a little worn; but out there, after six months of 'Pinafore,' it was a blessed relief, and when the violinist stopped playing and passed his hat, I put a dollar in it; but while was on his rounds the harper struck up alone, and played and sung: "Io sono chiamato piccolo Ranuncolo, caro, piccalo Ranuncolo,

Quantunque io non abbia mal potuto dirne il perche, Ma io sono sempre chiamato Ranuncolo, povero piccolo Raruncolo,

Soave piccolo Ranuncolo.'
"I was getting desperate now. My only hope seemed to be a cattle ranch, but the first thing I heard there, above the lowing of the cattle and neighing of the horses, was the singing of a ranchero, whose song, in measure with the loping of his horse, was:

'Me, llamo Copita de Mantequilla, pobre Copita de Mantequilla, Sin saber nunca porque Con todo sov Copita de Mantequilla, pobre Copita de Mantequilla, Carita Copita de Mantequilla, Yo, Tengo rape, y Tabaco, y-

"I hoped to find peace in San Francisco. Striking off into the Chinese quarter I asked of a washerman who vas placidly beating the buttons off of some clothes, the way to the inmost recesses of the settlement. 'Me no speakee Melican,' he said, but as I turned away I heard him singing:

'Mi call lillie Buttlecup, dee lillie Buttlecup, Allee samee mi not nevel tell why; But still mi call Buttlecup, poo lillie Buttlecup, Sweet lillie Buttlecup mi.' "Then I thought I might as well come back. Life had lost all charms for me. Upon my nephew in college my hopes centered. I noted with pride the proficiency he displayed under examination. And a new hope budded in my bosom when I saw the grave, gray-haired professor; but this last hope faded, for as I turned away I heard him humming, as he wiped his

while I live."
"Admiral," said the Hon. Columbus Murphy, "your wish shall be respected," and after the old sea dog had retired, Mr. Murphy organized a meeting at which it was unanimously resolved that "Admiral Horatio Binnacle, whose bland courtesy and high-toned chiv-alry have so endeared him to his friends in this house, shall have within these covery, for we pledge ourselves to refrain, at all hours, dayor night, from singing, whistling, humming, or playing 'Pinafore' until the brave old mariner shall after a position, she said, am I not your treasure?" notice that his room would be advertised on Sunday.

It seemed now probable that the Admiral would have a chance to recover his health. But unfortunately the Hon. Columbus Murphy had made a very common mistake. He assumed that his own was the only circle worth considering, and failed to inform the servants of the new departure. Thus it fell out that on the following morning Matilda, the round and rosy chambermaid, whose voice to most men is maid, whose voice to most men is pleasing, while passing along the hall upon which the Admiral's room opens, sang as she flourished her feather dust-

Normal School.

Correspondence of the News. CHAPEL HILL, June 30 .- The hour Professor Ladd. To this gentleman, more than anyone else, is due the credit of the successful conduct of the Normal school. His lectures are always him full of sound practical sense. His brim-full of sound practical sense. His style is terse, clear and pointed. He says nothing doubtfully. He is very earnest and always wins the entire at-earnest and always wins the entire attention of his audience.

Said he "you will often hear the remark that so and so is a fine scholar, but he does not keep order in his school."
The teacher must have practical experience. When you see a man plowing, it looks very easy, but just take hold yourself, and you will find that you are mistaken. It will not go deep enough, or the first thing you know, it goes too deep. He that by the plow would thrive, must either hold or drive. Three-fourths of the teachers who fail, are wanting not in scholar-ship, but in discipline. Why is this so? I want you all to ask yourselves this question. Therefore, I continue to speak to you on the qualifications of the teacher, on the art of teaching. Next, then, among the qualifications of the teacher is neatness of person. If he comes into the school-room with hair uncombed, his boots dirty and looking slovenly, the pupils will be equally careless and slovenly. But if he comes in looking perfectly neat and clean, his hair nicely combed, his boots nicely polished, the mud carefully scrubbed off (it makes no difference how many patches there-are on them), children will admire it and they will imitate him. They will, every one, try to do just like the master. Cleanliness is next to Godliness. If I had to convert a dirty man, I would have him washed first. It is not necessary to have fine clothes. I have seen a lady look better in a six cent calico dress, than

Don't go into the school room looking slouchy. Order. The teacher ought to keep everything in perfect order. If she has a desk she must keep all her things in order—everything must be in its place. The children will not fail to notice it; They will say "how nice the teacher looks! How nice she keeps every thing!" She is the pattern. They will be sure to imitate her. Let her show them how to place their books in order when school is over. Tell them to put in first the atlas, then the slate, then something else, etc. Oh, what a terrible responsibility rests on the teacher!

the clothes, it is the manner of carrying them. There is a great deal in carriage.

The teacher must have system; not an iron-bound system that can't be bent, but a flexible system. Have a programme. A certain hour for everything. Of course he may make changes whenever it suits him. It is best to give variety-the children get tired. Variety is the spice of life. The teacher must be punctual. This is indispensable to success.

Why do children shrink from some people? Some children run everytime they see the doctor or the preacher coming. You must take the childrenit don't make any difference how much sorghum they have on their aprons or around their mouths, you must take them up on your knee and kiss them—

You must keep your temper. If you do get mad be sure to keep it inside. Don't let the children see it. We have to keep a great many things inside of us. Can somebody tell us the proverb which we learned last session? (An-swer: "He that ruleth his own spirit is better than he that taketh a city.") Do not talk loud in a conversational tone; loudness is not eloquence.

As to discipline, the least governed school is best. Make no show of discipline. (The speaker enforced this truth by the story of a well-governed steamer, in which there was no appearance of government at all, so smoothly did everything goon. He then spoke of the importance of patience and long suffering, of pru-dence in deportment, etc. "Don't be too talkative," said he. 'Weigh every word, especially in the school room. I once told my school a story to illustrate what I meant by exaggeration. I told that I had heard of a man who said that he saw a pumpkin in California (of course) "so large that they had to have a ladder with twentyfive rounds to get down to the bottom of it to clean it out. The children went home and said the teacher said he saw a pumpkin so large that it was twenty-five miles to the bottom of it and it took six weeks to clean it out. You see what a scrape I got into. I lost seven nights sleep, twenty-one meals, and twenty-eight pounds of flesh, and I don't know whether I have got over it yet! Be careful what you say. The sewing circle will get hold of

You must go to see the parents, take tea with them. If they don't ask you, send them word you are coming such a night. Go first when they have got the best to eat. If you don't they will get mad with you. And be sure you see the wife and talk about the children. Don't galvanize, tell the truth about the children, make friends with the wife. It will make a great deal of difference when the next school money is voted, whether you have won the wife or not. It don't make so much difference about the husband, but be sure that you are right with the wife. Ain't it so Dugger?

"Dugger said yes.") "You can't always rule by love, sometimes a little bit of birch, is better than anything else. It looks love out of

MILITARY AGRICULTURE. PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS OF THE "HERRING-BONE,"

The Old Man of Mt. Gilead turns Raconteur, and Illustrates his Case With a Little Anecdote.

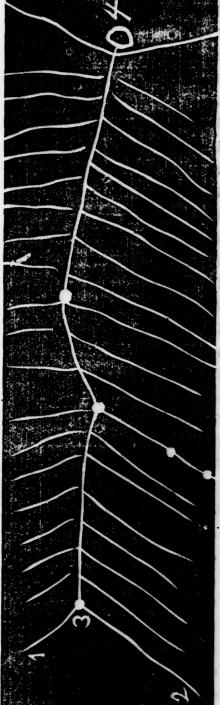

Correspondence of the News.

Mr. GILEAD, June 26 .- I am in great trouble. In addition to the fact that I am expecting "Col." Hugh Sparks back in a short time, I am threatened with a domestic affliction which will be hard to bear. My son John, who up to his fifteenth year never gave us any reason to suppose that he was afflicted with any mental disorder, has of late given unmistakable evidence of that "wit which is to madness close allied." Ever since you began to send us newspapers he has been reading and mouthing and droning about. All the summer he hasn't been of any account, and I have felt called upon a number of times to use correctional language of some considerable pungency in order to induce him to perform his usual tasks in our little garden patch, and his mother has-I would not say scoldedbut has found it necessary to reason with the lad in a tone that was distinctly audible at the distance of a mile. Yesterday I sent him up on a side hill to work out a little patch of corn, with a STUMP-TAILED YEARLING that serves me in place of a horse for my little farm work. The san hadn't got very high before I saw John and the yearling both mighty contented as it seemed under the shade of a big persimmon which grew about in the mid dle of the rows. I watched him for some time. As it was a good time to kill grass, I thought it was bad policy to stop so long in the middle of the rows, so I called to him, as loudly as one of my years could reasonably be expected to, and finally, after much anguish of spirit was compelled to march up the hill and investigate the cause of his continued state of inaction. To aid myself in this investigation.

I CUT AND CAREFULLY TRIMMED a hickory rod of convenient length, shut up my shop and, taking my ane started through the hot sunshine for the persimmon tree in the corn-field. It was rowerful hot; the ground hereabout is set up on edge, for convenience in cultivating both sides of it, I suppose, and neither my legs nor my temper will now endure the strain they once would not have min led. In consequence of these things, I arrived at that persimmon in great perspiration, out of breath, and with a shortness of temper which led me at once to drop that hickory smartly over the most prominent portion of John's anatomy as he lay prone upon his face with sig-nals of distress fluttering in the breeze. The time required to enable that boy to resume the perpendicular was aston-ishingly brief. As he did so the wind gently lifted a paper from where he had been lying, and on which his attention had been so absorbed that he had not heard my approach. Even in his present agitated condition, and with the pressing call which he seemed to have for hands in and about the place where the hickory had dropped, the young man was able to spare one, to snatch up that paper. The act surprised me, and I demanded, at once, that he should submit it to my paternal inspection. After some considerable hesitation and demurring protestations that it was 'nothing," and of "no account." he reached me the paper, his hand resuming at once its normal occupation. I put on my glasses and spread out the paper carefully, and

THIS IS WHAT I FOUND ON IT:

"What does this mean?" I slowly asked. That, said the enthusiastic lad, is a PLAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA HER-RING BONE RAILROAD SYSTEM as devised by Caldwell, with the latest improvements and modifications to-gether with designs by the employees of the ring for its further and complete development in the future. In explanation of the herring-bone system he informed me that one end was intended to represent the entrepot at Beaufort while

THE FORKED TAIL was to be tipped with Paint Rock and Duck Town. The feeders are to be completed as rapidly as possible, so as great object of the plan is to enable North Carolina to do its own freightage and get the benefit of it in building up its own roads and water-ways and cities, instead of giving the benefit of it all to Virginia and South Carolina, to build up Charleston and Richmond and Norfolk, while New Berne vegetates, Wilmington is not happy, and Beaufort is invisible to the naked eye." "You see, dad," he continued, "freighting is just the biggest business in the world. There's no end to the money that's to There's no end to the money that's to be made at it if you only do enough. Now, you see, the plan is to take, say a barrel of apples say at Duck Town, put it on the train, run down to Asheville and then back down the Y to Paint Rock, and so on,

RUNNING DOWN ONE SPINE AND BACK-ING DOWN THE OTHER, until it finally reaches Beaufort. Now it is nigh about six hundred miles direct from Beaufort to Ducktown, but it would be hard telling what it would be by the completed system. Don't you see that barrel of apples would just leave a mint of money in the State, itself,"

"But how about the apples, my son?"

I asked.
"Oh, durn the apples, its the freight we're after?" was his reply.
"Then, when the trans-montane down to the legislature members come down to the legislature and draw mileage as members and dep-ty sheriffs for bringing the news of their own elections and as sheriffs to pay over their county taxes, all at one trip, what a haul they'll make and how glad it will make the hearts of the trans-montaneers, until they will offer re-wards and get ex-Colonel and Com-missioner Polk, to hire the spurious Yankee "Colonel" Dumont to

GO NORTH AND LECTURE AGAIN o induce immigration. Thereby they will be abie to make any number of new counties in that region, where now the vote of one man is worth six or eight at the east or center. The east will not be without its advantages from this grand system, however. Not only must an outlet for the products of the West be offered but an inlet for its wants. The building of the line from Asheville on to Paint Rock and Ducktown will be a mine of wealth to the east. While it is true that it is through a most difficult country which produces nothing but big tales and swellhead politicians, yet they are not with-out wants. There will be an immense demand for the lumber of the east to build the bridges and trestles and case the various mud cuts on the routes Then too

EASTERN CORN AND BACON will be needed to feed the eastern convicts while at work on the bifurcation west of Asheville, and there will be freight on all these, and it is freight the State needs to make roads and run them; to build a great city at Beaufort and keep the channel open."

"But,my son," I asked, "how will you keep the freight from going to Norfolk and Richmond by the other lines." "Ah dad," he replied "for that we must have legislation. Of course the State ought to do its own freighting. It is so much saved while every one paid to the outsiders is a dead loss. So no matter if it does more and takes longer, we must have legislation to maintain the herring-bone system." "But will not the increased price of freight ruin production?" I asked. "Production be d-d, dad" he answered "what do we want of production, its freight we want. You are behind the age and the time.

I'VE ABANDONED PRODUCTION." 'So I see" said I, glancing at the year ling and then at the sun.
"But, dad," said he a little an siously, for he had noticed my glance at the bull, I'll tell you what's the matter with this "system" and it was that I was just trying to solve in the interest of suffering humanity and my native State when you came up. "What is State when you came up. "What is that?" I asked in a tone of sympathetic interest. "It's where to put the depots, dad; you see if the system is fully carried out, it will take so many stopping places." "Ah yes," said I interrupting him, "the stopping places, my son, are the trouble in a great many things. Now, here's this 'simmon-tree if the "North Carolina system" is carried out, will kill more'n two acres of Then I took that boy by the corn." scruff of the neck and laid out the North Carolina berring-bone system on his back, and he and the little stumptailed bull resumed with a lively step and an apparent gratitude that things were no worse.

I hear that Moring says he fon't mind about what's been said by your paper as to him; but two things are certain, if you ever call him the name by which he is most generally known in Chatham, or intimate that he contem-plates going to Beaufort to act as a sighting-pole in any more bar-deepening experiments, there will be a row. His "conscience" don't trouble him any more. He'd be GLAD TO SIGN THAT SCHOOL BILL now, if it wasn't too late. In fact, I'm satisfied he's almost sorry he ever had a "conscience." Is it a fact that ex-"Colonel" Polk gave the counterfeit Yankee "Colonel" Dumont $500 last summer to travel for the Department, and lecture and cor-respond, &c.? And is it also true that Dumont went to Saratoga and the White Mountains, and that there liveth not the man, so far as heard from, who hath ever heard the said Dumont's lecture or seen any fruits thereof? A Commissioner that pays a carpet-bag land agent's advertising, and his postage, and sends him on a trip to Saratoga every summer, just for fun, is a and just humps itself so that it takes about forty convicts to keep it in statu quo. It's no wonder we cannot have a school bill, when it costs so much to keep Mud Cut down to its work. As a choice between Mud Cut and good schools, of course the people would prefer the cut. In fact, I'm not sure that I'm not in accord with the ex-"Colonel" and Honorable Commissioner in that matter. I understand that he is opposed to taxing the amateur farmers to educate poor folk's children. When I see what a little learning has done for my John, I am inclined to agree with him.

Yours respectfully, JEDUTHUN JEEMS, the old man of Mt. Gilead.

The "Old Man from Mt. Gilead" did but little in prejudicing the minds of the people in this section against the "Military Colonel." Colonel Polk stands high in the estimation of our people and it will take more than the epithets from this old gentleman or his Greensboro aid either to shake their faith in his fidelity and earnestness of purpose and his value to the agricultural interest of the State. Just here we will state that if we can properly diagnose the case there is a certain clique at work with the view of getting a certain friend into a certa

RICOCHET FROM THE OLD COUN. TY OF ANSON.

One of the Committee and J. J. Fired into from Long Range-No Harm as Yet.

Correspondence of the News. LILESVILLE, Anson Co., June 28.-If mistake not as to the author of "One of the Committee's" letters, I readily yield to him the credit of consistency, although his vote on the 21st of February, '76, when the "Grissom war" raged fiercely, gives him the doubtful status of a rather inconsistent consistency.

Then, when one vote would have made the change which "One of the Committee" now so ably and effectually battles for, Grissom was sustained and retained. remember the occasion most vividly. accomplished and eloquent, the learned and polished Senator from Caldwell,

TELEGRAM ARRESTED AND TURNED at Salisbury, after he had bidden his many friends adieu at the capital: and I remember the scenes of that night in the Senate. Octavius Coke's speech was magnificent, splendid. George

Folk's was equally so. The matter under consideration was admitted to be a "test question." I have now before me the vote and ap-pend the names of those Democratic Senators who voted on the Grissom selators who voted on the Grissom side: Bennett, Crawford, Cunningham, Ferguson, Folk, Heilig, Johnson, Jus-tice, Moore (of M.), Robinson, Scales, Stewart, Short, Wilson and Young. Of Dr. Grissom personally, profession-eally and officially I have the very best and soundest of reason for entertaining the highest degree of respect and regard. My opportunities for observing and carefully noticing him have been varied and ample. I have watched and watched closely his management of the institution over which he presides. Po-Institution over which he presides. Politically, not otherwise, my prejudices have been against him, bitterly and violently against him. As a Republican, I earnestly urged his dismissal. He well knows with what zeal and energy I have opposed his retention in office under a Democratic administration. Hence aught I may say in his tion. Hence, aught I may say in his praise cannot be misunderstood: and I say that I most confidently believe he is an honest, efficient, and capable official, that he manages the Asylum on unswerving principles of integrity and honor. That he is kind, humane, considerate and skillful in the treatment of his patients, the unfortunate and stricken inmates of the Asylum, I know. And when John Nichols "went by the board."

WHEN A "CLEAN SWEEP" WAS EXand justly expected by the Democracy of the State, I thought, and think yet, Grissom should have gone, too. There may be men in North Carolina who could, and would if called upon, successfully and creditably fill his place. As a Democrat I would prefer to s every office of emolument or honor in the State filled by a Democrat; but laying aside political prejudice (and I don't believe that he is an active politician now), I feel at full liberty to say now, let Grissom alone. And, though errors may have heretofore been committed; though charges of extravagance and favoritism may not heretofore have been entirely groundless, I must be-lieve that an "awakening sense" as to the true condition of things has had and yet will have its full effect. Whatever may have gone wrong, the fact which everybody familiar with its workings will readily corroborate, stands forth immutable and fixed that the Insane Asylum, as now controlled and managed, is an honor and a credit to North Carolina. I have recently seen several gentlemen FROM THE MT. GILEAD REGION, and they are very decided in saying that "J. J." don't live there. They "want to know" (like Arthur Clennam did when he encountered the "Tite Barnacles' of the circumlocution office), who he is that thus claims an abiding place amongst them. As before re-marked, the "Military Commissioner's" course is entirely satisfactory to the people here. In fact they feel a considerable degree of pride at the manner in which he has conducted his 'Department;" and sneers and ridicule are not calculated to change their views. The motive of these attacks—not upon Colonel Polk alone, but upon the whole State administration, is beginning to be inquired after, and some comments of a not favorable nature are indulged in. Still "J. J." writes well; his wit and

HOPED THAT HE WILL CONTINUE. No one, so far as I know, fears or dreads the effect. All true Democrats, however, deprecate and discourage quarrels inside the party. We had a beautiful and bounteous rain on yesterday, just in time to save the gardens, potatoes and corn. Cotton was beginning to suffer. All right now, so far as prospects for a full crop of eyerything is concerned. The wheat and oat harvest was never better, at least 'hardly ever."

The preparations for our Pee Dee Fair, to take place in October or No-vember, are progressing quietly but very effectively, and the indications now point to a most complete success From the border counties of South Carolina, and from all the Pee Dee, Uwharrie, Yadkin and Rocky River sections, the Executive Committee have assurances of valuable and interesting contributions; while miners, manufacturers, machinists, tradesmen. agriculturists and stock-raisers from other and distant States are applying for space to exhibit their wares and FARMERS' FOLLY. The out turn of the wheat crop of 1878 will be it is said, about 380,000,000 to 385,000,000 bushels. The estimate of the erop of 1878 by the Agricultural Department was 420,122,400. Messrs. Tallmadge & Lindman, the noted grain merchants of Milwaukee, estimate the wheat crop of 1879 at 480,000,000 bushels. It is also a suggestive fact in connec tion with the foregoing, that ten years' increase of the cereal area of the United States is greater than the entire acreage of grain of any country in Europe except Russia and France, greater than that of Prussia, nearly as large as the combined grain area of Austria and Hungary, and three times as large as that of Great Britain. The acreage of corn alone in Illinois is about the same asthat of "corn" of all kinds in England and Scotland. Our grain acreage is about half that of all the nations of Europe. How long will it take to surpass all Europe, with its three hundred million people?

Of course there must be a market for this constantly increasing yield, and ordinately we have a formidable competitor in Russia in production, but since the commencement of the Russo-Turkish war that country has fallen far behind in production. But with all our a faiture. advantages for keeping the upper hand of the foreign market; with our farmers realizing fair prices for their wheat, they are adopting a course not only ruinous to themselves, but if persisted in will inflict such damage on the country that years of effort will fail to rectify We refer to the raising and shipment of "Fulse" wheat, one of the many species now in use.

At a recent meeting of the Indiana State Millers' Association this fact was set forth, and an able report was made on the subject. The report stated that the farmers of Indiana and Illinois have of late planted more and more of this "Fulse" wheat, their reason for this selection being that the yield was large, it had a fine appearance, and consequently sold well to those purchasing merely for shipment. But the millers, from their own experience, have discovered that this quality of grain is exceedingly poor for grinding, as it has a small percentage of gluten, and a large percentage of starch, and hence the flour made from it is very unsatisfactory. The millers hold that shipments of this wheat to Europe must result in bringing American flour into disrepute, and therefore have pledged themselves to do what they can to prevent the growing of "Fulse" wheat. Whether they can check this movement on the part of the farmers to produce an article which has an extrinsic rather than an intrinsic value remains to be seen, but the attempt is clearly deserving of encouragement, and would never have been made if the purchasing millers of the State had not been assembled in convention.

IT would be a good idea for the North aud the South to exchange orators for the next Fourth of July celebrations The average citizen up this way would like to hear Joe Blackburn, Senator Lamar, and Ben Hill give a genuine Rebel yell, and the people in the Gulf States would be pleased to see Senator Blaine, Senator Conkling, and Zach Chandler wave the bloody shirt. Blaine would draw a bigger crowd in Charles ton than any circus that ever entered it, and Wade Hampton's lungs would be taxed to their utmost capacity to make the crowd hear that would assemble to listen to his discourse under the shadow of the Bunker Hill monument. Lamar might exchange pulpits with Conkling, the latter speaking in Vicks-burg and the former "cementing the Union" in the City of New York. Such an interchange of political sentiments from the representative men of both extremes would be beneficial and interesting .- Chicago Tribune.

More truth in your sarcasm than you dreamed of. If the suggestion was carried out, though, papers of your stamp would be entirely deprived of campaign ammunition.

THE Chicago Tribune is jubilant over the fact that the pawnbrokers of that city have fixed up a dodge to beat the city out of the license fee of $100 required of each establishment of their kind. They propose to evade the ordinance by a system of bogus purchases and sales which amount to nothing more nor less than the regular operation of advancing money upon pledged articles. The evasion is so shallow that it ought not to be allowed to succeed. This trick has been practiced in every city of consequence in the Union for the last twenty years; yet the Chicago innocents have just discovered it. Some one should act as guardian over this city of sweet sim-

A few days ago the Supreme Court of the United States rendered a decision that enforces to its extreme limit the doctrine that a State cannot tax imports. . The court maintains that a tax laid by a State on the amount of sales made by an auctioneer is a tax on the goods sold; that when the goods sold, for which he is required to collect and pay a tax, are imported goods in the original package, sold for the importer, the law authorizing the tax is void, as laying a duty on imports, and as a regulation of commerce forbidden by sections 8 and 10 of article 1 of the Constitution of the United

THE St. Louis Journal of Commerce says: "The project of establishing a fast mail line on the Mississippi river has been abandoned, owing to an inability on the part of the parties interested in the enterprise to secure the necessary capital to build the water craft wanted for the purpose. Postmaster General Key, who took great pride in this enterprise, is very disappointed at the outcome of the plan."

THE Atlanta Constitution is authorized to say that Mr. Lamar, before bav-ing Washington, appointed a representative who will receive any com-munication the New York Senator may desire to make. Suppose the communi-cation should be this: "Mr. Lamar, you are a coward, a slanderer, and a liar;" would that satisfy Mr. Lamar?-

It would probably satisfy anyone that the editor of the Tribune was a blackguard; in fact that such is the case has been well known for years. Another horsewhipping might mend his manners for a time but he would soon outgrow it, as he did before.

WHITELAW REID kindly admits that the newspapers of the future will be edited by even greater men than be.—

Chicago Tribune. We have been laboring under that impression for several years, but thinking our mind might have been warped by party predilections felt indisposed to announce it; but now that his rival in the West pronounces it to be a fact we must perforce publicly admit such to be the case.

THE June report of the Agricultural Department shows that the acreage of oats and rye is about 4 per cent. The condition of oats is unfavorable in nearly all sections of the Union. Barley is also low, the general average being 85 against 102 last year. Corn is backward, owing to the drought. The prospect for fruit is gloomy. The apple crop will be short, except in New England. In the Gulf States there will be only a half crop. The peach crop in the Eastern States is good, but in the Atlantic States south of Virginia and States bordering on the Ohio river it is

Turn About Will Come.

A change in the standpoint will often reverse the effect of a landscape. It makes all the difference in the world which side of the hedge we occupy when a mad bull is charging up the lane. The owner of the dog derides the fears of a poor pedestrian who asks that the animal may be restrained while he is passing; but the stranger does not share the owner's confidence, and can see nothing innocent or playful in the seeming assault that brings the hungry looking teeth within reach of his quiv ering flesh. Even despotic rule, that grinds its victims with an iron heel. seems delightful enough to those who are favorites at court, and have nothing to fear from it; and unrestrained authority that threatens intolerable onpression and injustice to those outside of the pale of its sympathy, wears, too often, the aspect of a beneficent rule to its allies and ministers. In republican countries, where the rulers for the time are but the servants of the people, and liable to be changed at the popular will, party leaders too often, in the pride of their power while they are in office, seek to perpetuate their domination by instrumentalities most offensive to the other side, and thus prepare a rod for their own backs when the tide shall turn and the occasion serves. The Democrats were guilty of this in their long and almost unbroken su-premacy before the rebellion; and the firmer seat and a larger majority during the years that succeeded, have done quite as much, if not more, to provoke retaliation when they are compelled, as they must be sooner or later, to re linquish in turn their grasp, and see their opponents in the chief seats of honor and power. Neither party seems willing to profit by the experience of the other, and thus each is compelled to learn anew the painful lesson in that most expensive school.

For several years the majority in our State Legislature absolutely refused to fulfill the obligation imposed by the Constitution to redistrict the State, because that would give more members to the opposition; and when it could no longer postpone or evade the duty, deliberately violated the terms of the requirement by giving to those sections it fayored a number greater than the proportion called for in the official census, which was the standard it was bound to follow. On the other hand, the counties of New York and Kings, when their turn came to perfect the division of districts, did what they could, though on a smaller scale, to imitate the bad example. The punish ment for such partisan injustice is as certain as the revolutions of time, and there is no escaping the penalty.

We pass over the most arbitrary and disgraceful nullification by the party in power of the will of the people as expressed at the last Presidential election, to notice for a moment the struggle that led to the special session of Congress and its protracted sitting past the midsummer day. We regard the efforts of the central Executive power at Washington to retain its hold in a most offensive partisan manner of the supervision of elections throughout the country as the most intolerable ex-ercise of official authority in all our national history. The Republicans see in it no great injustice, because it is ex-ercised in their alliance and to promote heir party ends; but if the Democrats had even proposed such a measure when they were in power, the Fugitive Slave law excitement would have been as nothing to the feeling it would have

If a Democrat President should appoint marshals and subordinate officials every one of his own political faith, to serve at the polls throughout New England and to interfere with the voters as the partisans of the preent Administration have done in districts where their opponents were in a large majority, with a hint that the army was ready to support the interference in case the voters were at all refractory, we do not believe that our Republican friends would look so calmly on the disgraceful scene, and insist that purity at the pols requires such national oversight; But what has already been done under this partisan machinery is nothing to the possibilities of the system; and the freedom from such tyranny should not be left for a moment to the proba-b'e forbearance of the leaders of any political party. We are eager for the day when the present domination will give place, at least for a single term, to fall Democratic rule; not so much because we favor the latter as because this is the only way we see to restrain the centralization of power, and the intolerable oppressions already experi-enced and more and more probable under it. When those who have advocaed and exercised this arbitrary authority, and have resisted all efforts to limit or restrain it, come to feel it them-selves, they will be far more re t ve under it than the present victims, and the reform we trust will thus be speedy and effective. Nothing so quickens a man's appreciation of suffering as to be threatened himself with the same infliction; and this is especially applica-ble to those who are in their turn brought under the rod they have held A "Highfalutin" Resolve.

MIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on presre; sometimes the pain is in the left ide: the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general re costive, sometimes alternative with ix; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his. feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

of the nineteenth century, and one that takes equal rank with the invention of the telephone, the electric light and other scien-tific marvels of the age, is that of Henry's Carbolic Salve. This Compound possesses the most remarkable Healing Properties of any known agent employed for the purpose of curing SORES, WOUNDS, CUTS, BRUISES, Inflamed and abraded surfaces, and for ALL SKIN DISEASES. Its cleaning properties remove all impurities that hinder the formation of healthy flesh, and the work of cure goes on to completion with most Womderful Rapidity. Let no family be without a box of it in the house. Physicians extol its virtues; and the thousands who have used it unite in recommending it. Beware of Counterfeits.

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879. The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass's or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully, WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate. was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 ears. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for values of the greatest family medicines we have access to the control of the greatest family medicines we have access to the control of the greatest family medicines which it is rious other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WAD-For sale by Win. Simpson, Pescud, Lee & Co., and F. H. Heartt, Raleigh, N. C., and Druggists generally.

THE GREAT TONIC AND ALTERATIVE WATERS OF THE AMERICAN CONTINENT.

BUFFALO LITHIA SPRING NO. 3. The most Valuable and Powerful Tonic Waters of Virginia, and, with one exception, the most Valuable and Powerful Tonic Water of the United States.

ception, the most Valuable and Powerful Tonic Water of the United Siates.

ANALYSIS of this Spring, made by Prof. Wm. P. Tonry, of the Maryland Institute, Baltimore, March 17, 1871. Results expressed in grains per imperial gallon, shows it to contain 3.774 grains of the Carbonate of Iron, which is recognized by all medical men as incomparably themost potent and valuable form in which iron can be used as a Tonic. A comparison of this analysis with that of other chalybeate waters of the American Continent shows that the Baffalo Lithia Spring No. 3 contains a larger percentage of CARBONATE OF IRON than any other Mineral Water in Virginia, and, with one exception, a larger percentage than any other Mineral Water in the United States. Between this water and chalybeate waters generally there is one important difference. Chalybeate waters, as a general rule, are ASTRINGENT. The water of Spring No. 3 is APERIENT—rendered so by the Carbonate of Potash.

With this powerful BLOOD TONIC in conjunction with the famous Buffalo Lithia Spring No. 2 (which contains a larger percentage of the Bi-carbonate of Lithia than any known Mineral Water), one of the most powerful alterative waters of the world, and to which is attributed by many eminent medical men a peculiar power as "a Nerve Tonic," it would seem to be a self-evident proposition that these Springs offer inducements to those in search of health, found nowhere else upon the American Continent.

-Wanted-two or three gentlemen of leisure, sometimes vulgarly called "loafers," to "lemonade around the "loafers," to "lemonade around the suburbs" of the county court house. They will be expected to keep their mouths constantly open and to drink in the beautiful sunshine, gnats, flies and any other homeless insect that may be floating around loose in that neighborhood. They are not plentiful in this city, it is true, and we really do not expect this application to be answered. They are in great demand, however, and if any of that class at a distance should see this paragraph, his expenses here will be paid upon application to the court house officials, who seem to be in great need of the article just now. None but those with sound stomachs, and who have no particular antipathy to the insect tribe, need apply.

An Important Suit.

Some months since a judgment was recovered in the suit of LaFontaine et al vs. the Southern Underwriters' Associ-ation, and under it the plaintiffs instituted supplemental proceedings for the purpose of ascertaining the true condition of its assets and the enforcement of the claims. Judge Seymour held in this case that supplementary proceedings would not lie against a corporation; but his decision was reversed by the Supreme Court at the last term, and the referee was ordered to proceed with the investigation. The order of Judge Eure was made returnable yesterday and set or this morning at 10 o'clock. This case is one of unusual importance, and involves the question of how far a witness may be excused from answering questions that may tend to criminate him, and how far he is to be the judge; and also whether the judge or the referee ought to punish for the contempt.

Resolutions of Condolence. On Monday night the members of Centre Lodge No. 3, K. of P., met at Castle Hall and the Lodge was reorganized by Governor T. J. Jarvis, D. D. G.

After reorganization, the Lodge, by a unanimous rising vote, adopted the following preamble and resolutions concerning the death of Mr. George Bishop, Jr.: WHEREAS, The Supreme Chancellor of all Nature, in his boundless and infallible wisdom, has seen fit to call our dear brother, George Bishop, Jr., P. C., from all earthly associations into the eternal Castle Hall above, and WHEREAS, From long, intimate and pleasant association with our brother, he had become very dear to us all, and as our hearts are now deeply grieved at his death and also greatly shocked at the suddenness thereof, we feel constrained to give unanimous expression of feeling to the afflicted family of our brother, and do therefore,

Resolve, That while we willingly submit to the just will of the Supreme Ruler in removing our brother from our midst, yet we deeply deplore his decease, for in his death we have lost a faithful brother, a true friend and "one

Resolved, That we will always cherish his memory in our hearts, with tenderest affection, and will hold more sacred those noble virtues of our Order, "Friendship, charity and benevolence, which we have so long seen exempli-fied in the daily practice of brother George Bishop's life.

Resolved, That we tender to his afflicted family our sincerest sympathies and condolence, and would ask them to take comfort, even as we do, in the hope that his call from earth was for a Divine purpose, and that even now his spirit is rejoicing in the dawning light of a glorious and happy eternity.

At a Single Jump.

Franklin Reporter. Jake H. H. in a single communication to the Raleigh News can manufacture more military dignitaries than "'arter had oats." And the beauty about it is they all step right up to "Colonel" at a single jump. Jewhila-kens! a fellow can almost hear cannons roar when reading his articles. Nor h Carolina surely has, or has had, more military men than any country on the globe, and then every squad must have been a "regiment." Shoo! Colonels, Shoo!!

A Powerful Addition.

New Berne Democrat. Tin horns will be distributed to the boys of this city at the corner of Middle and Broad streets on the Fourth of July at 11 a.m. The distribution will be made regardless of race, color, or former condition of servitude. All the boy who wants a horn has to do, is to present a certificate of good, moral character, and that he is capable of making an unconscionable noise, and a nuisance of himself generally; the greater the nuisance the larger the horn. It is desi, ned to make this Fourth thorough and memorable.

Our Faith not Shaken. Durham Recorder.

The New York Star sends us a marked copy of its issue of the 15th, calling our attention to some discreditable financial transactions of Mr. Tilden. The Star might have spared itself the trouble. Mr. Tilden is not specially our favorite for the Presidency. Yet if the Demoeratic Convention shall nominate him, we will give him a hearty support. Certainly our faith in his personal in-tegrity is not shaken by assaults upon him by his party associates; much less by his political enemies. The very fact kat he is so assailed is evidence that he holds a power that is to be feared by his political opponents, and retains an influence to be dreaded by his ambitions rivals.

Profitable Stock Investments. Before Messrs. Lawrence & Co., the New York bankers, inaugurated the combination system of operating in stocks, it was often very difficult for inexperienced operators, or even old stagers, to deal profitably by their single handed ventures. Now the field is open to every one for successful operations, and capital in any amounts, from $10 to $20,000, can be used with equal proportionate profit. Instead of distractions of the temperature of the stage of the tracting efforts among many customers, the orders of thousands are concentrated into one vast pool and co-opera-ted for the benefit of all, dividing profits pro rata every month. A prominent citizen of San Francisco made $1,264.83 from an investment of $300 last month. Other customers are doing better still. $25 pays $125 during the month, $200 returns $1,200, or 6 per cent, on the stock, and so on as the market moves. New circular contains "two unerring rules for success," and full instructions for any one to operate profitably. All the advantages of unlimited capital and careful manipulation are secured by the combination method. Stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. Deposits received. ulcura

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations.

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime by the Cutteura Remedies, are more wonderful than any methods or remedies known to the medical methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

Cuticura Resolvent, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been delly charged. Cuticura, The Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growth which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

Salt Rheum for 30 Years

On the Head, Face, and Greater Part of the Body, Cured. Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,—
I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the sion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of Cuticura. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases.

Yours truly,

B. WILSON LORD.

LEPROSY. Modern Miracle, Astonishing Results from the use of Cuticura.

Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen.—
We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your Cuticura remedies. The county had employed all of our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the Cuticura and immediately began getting better. He had been contined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during this time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not think he is cured but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least.

Yours truly, Messrs. Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen .-
